OSAKA BLEU

OSAKA BLEU - a tribute to blue and red colours. The collection is integrated and presented together with our all times favourites.

We keep finding inspiration in traditional craftsmanship, beautiful patterns and special colour combinations. For decades the combination of red and blue has truly been among our favorites. For the latest story of HABIBA these are the main colours. The Japanese inspired collection is full of sophisticated details mixed with humorous embroideries and graphical patterns. The IKAT print is inspired by the Japanese textile technique called kasuri in a clear indigo colour - we call it Japan blue. SAKURA is the name of the red cherries on a ground of tiny white dots and the deep blue ground. BIBI embroidery is a quirky mix of sweet and crazy hand illustrations - discover and make up your own story.

You will find japanese koi fish, dotty tea pots mixed with classic icons such as anchors, arrows and hearts. Even a cat with uneven dots - it might be one of those characters from the novels of Murakami.

HABIBA's collection still consists of hand quilted cotton quilts, fine striped patchwork throws and kantha quilted bedspreads. Cushion cases and yoga bolster with contrasting pipings, quilted toiletry bags and make up clutches. Elegant thin kimonos in soft cotton voile.

Since the beginning the range has developed and expanded with Habiba wear - a cosy story with a pyjamas, a long shirt, a strap dress and a padded quilted kimono for colder seasons and late summer nights. Lately we have added a short quilted jacket inspired by the french classic workwear jacket with three functional pockets. In general we add pockets in all styles if possible, which makes them functional for modern women.

We have also added a couple of cool accessories for everyday use - like computer sleeves with beautiful embroideries and colourful prints, spacious tote bags and a little functional festival bag - only for the essentials.

THINGS TO KNOW ABOUT OUR QUALITIES AND PRODUCTS

SATIN

100% ORGANIC COTTON

Satin is an old-fashioned weaving method used for luxury fabrics. Throughout the ages, satin weaves have been used for luxury fabrics in primarily silk and cotton for use in clothing and bed linen. The weaving method involves skipping 3 threads which creates a shiny appearance on the fabric's surface. Satin weave makes the fabric, whether cotton, viscose, or silk, more breathable, soft and comfortable. We love the beautiful weave because we think the shiny appearance accentuates our prints.

VELOUR

100% ORGANIC COTTON

Velour is a weave that feels velvety on the surface. Velvet and velour are closely related, as they are both a general term for several textiles. These textiles are woven, and all have a short upright layer of hair - which is called a pile. This pile can have many different types of appearance. Velour is used for both furniture and clothing. Velour is usually woven in cotton or silk - but can also be woven in wool and other qualities.

At Habiba, we like to use velour because it is soft, feels "warm" and makes our prints very special when they are embossed on the soft, thick fabric. We use velour in 100% organic cotton.

POPLIN

100% ORGANIC COTTON

Poplin is a commonly used weaving method for shirt fabrics. The weave is simple and tight, with weft and warp thread going over and under each other. It gives a smooth and very uniform surface. Poplin is a tightly woven fabric.

At Habiba, we like to use poplin for our patchwork products because we think it gives a beautiful and simple look - it reminds us of the vintage quilts we have been collecting privately for decades.

KAPOK

100% ORGANIC, ALLERGY FRIENDLY AND ALMOST CO2 NEUTRAL

Kapok is organic, sustainable, and hypoallergenic.

Kapok grows in seed pods on giant trees that can grow up to 70 meters tall and carry more than 3000 pods. The seed pods contain kapok, which are natural fibers of seed hairs. Kapok is the lightest natural fiber in the world, approx. 6 times lighter than cotton. The light fibers make kapok feel silky which is why the kapok tree is also called the "Silk Cotton Tree". When using kapok, the environmental impact is minimal. All processing and production are done manually and there are no waste products. CO2 emissions occur only when the kapok is transported.

RECYCLED FILLING

100% A GOOD IDEA

Our recycled filling is made from fibers from recycled textiles that have been ripped and shredded into a kind of "cotton wool".

We use the recycled filling for our quilts, which makes them feel like a beautiful "old-fashioned quilt". This is not entirely surprising because this kind of filling was used in quilts in the old days - as well as in upholstery and much more.

Today, however, the process is much more sophisticated, and this type of filling is first sorted by quality and colour and then ripped into "cotton wool".

HAND QUILT

100% AN AMAZING WORK

All Habiba throws are hand quilted. Whether it's a quilt with a printed pattern, a bedspread, or a patchwork throw - it's quilted by hand. In other words, all of the seams in the fabric and the filling are hand stitched.

Quilting is a hugely time-consuming job. It has a long history and is currently enjoying a period of renaissance as it once again re-establishes itself across cultures and geographies. We are inspired by the old Indian quilting techniques in particular.

PATCHWORK

100% A HUGE PIECE OF WORK

We love patchwork. It's been a passion of ours ever since our mothers sewed vests and blankets for us in the 70s in all sorts of fabric remnants.

We love the creative process of putting together colors and sizes of the different "patches" - whether it is cubes or stripes. It's so much fun and a huge pleasure when blankets and bags are in patchwork - and then subsequently quilted. The quilt on top of the patchwork is like the icing on the cake and gives the feeling of an old American vintage quilt that we like so much. Patchwork is a complicated and time-consuming job. It must be measured, cut, adjusted, and sewn extremely precisely so that the pieces fit together.
